MAY

THIS MONTH ON WBAI

All of us have seen at least a hundred was movies with a scene like this. The pilot, either young and green or hardened and bitter, is alone in the cockpit (the co-pilot, not God, having caught a bullet, is slumped over the controls). Suddenly, the starboard engine starts spouting flames. The pilot is barely able to stop the deathward spiral of his craft. A determined grin comes to his lips as he remembers the girl back home or his buddies in the barracks. He reaches toward the control panel and flips a switch. ''Red Dog to Black Viper,'' he cries, ''May Day! May Day! May Day!''

That was painless. And painless too, we hope, will be this year's May Marathon. The emphasis will be on presenting the best programming possible in order to win your continued support. Listen in May 1st through May 12th for good programs and alas, pitching. Send in your money early to keep the balance right.

May 1st is celebrated throughout the world (with the U.S. a glaring exception) as International Workers Day. Join us, starting at 2 p.m., for ''The History of May Day'' produced by the New York Radical Historians Organization. At 8 p.m. listen to ''Union Busting: The De-proletarianization of the American Worker.'' In the United States, the influence of organized labor has declined dramatically in the last decade. This documentary will explore symptoms and the causes, placing them in an international context. Produced by Samori Marksman and the Public and International Affairs Depts.

Are you ready for this? This, is eight hours of Mike Feder starting at 11 a.m. on May 5th. ''Hardwork, An Autobiography'' gives us the best of Mike's stories from 1981 to the present. Probably enough spiritual and other crises to leave us counting our lucky stars.

Also in the Marathon spirit, ''Prince and the Revolution'' starts at Midnight on May 5th and runs through 8:30 the next morning. Will Anthony Sloan and Bernard White debunk this rock myth or certify it? With music, of course.

Tune in from 4-6:30 p.m. on May 10th for ''Gay New York'. Marathon Special.'' This program will explore many aspects of gay New York life—issues of health and safety, legislation and even a segment of Gay Radio Mini-theatre. Produced by the Gay Men's Radio Collective.

On May 10th at midnight Jack Shugg will be presenting the encore performance of ''Hey, Brooklyn!'' America's first heavy metal musical. New material is included in this expose of record business machinations.

On May 14th, 21st and 28th the Women's Dept. will present a 3-part documentary on the Eleanor Bumpers case. The murder of this elderly, Black, ex-mental patient sent shock-waves through the city and had repercussions in law enforcement procedures. These programs will be broadcast at 5 p.m.

On May 23rd, at 2:30 p.m. producer Samori Marksman presents the ''African Liberation Day'' special. This program will examine problems stemming from the continent's colonial past; and the trends affecting its present and future.

On May 29th at 8:30 p.m. join Jim Theobold as he interviews composer Marga Richter on the ''Andy Music Show.'' An important New York composer, Ms. Richter's work combines elements of romanticism and 20th Century techniques.

''Red Dog to Black Viper. I got that engine goin' and I'm gonna be allright. I'm bringing'r in. Over and out.''

Radio and T.V. have brought about changes in the language. Now, a program is ''interrupted'' in the event of late-breaking news. In the days when pulp was king, another phrase, far more dramatic in my mind, signalled a newsworthy event: ''Stop the presses.''

As the printed arm of 'BAI, we take this opportunity to announce that the new Folio editor is Marjorie Waxman. Ms. Waxman is resuming this position after a ten year absence.

''Gee, I hope I can get this issue out on time,'' Ms. Waxman is quoted as saying when informed of her new position.

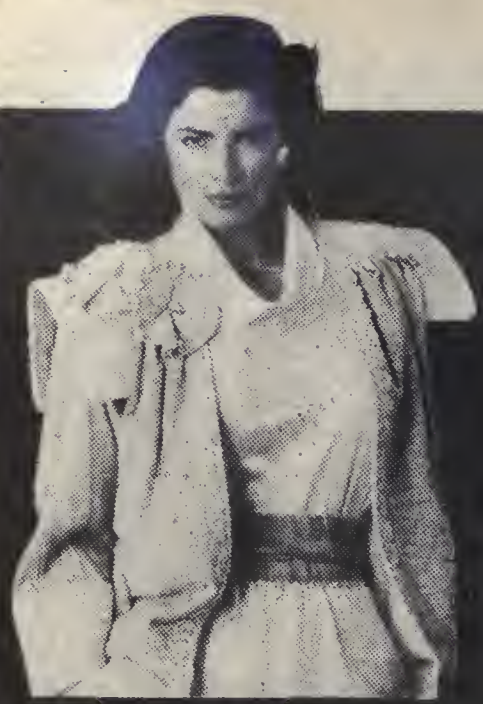
WBAI SPRING CRAFTS FAIR



I was sitting here, trying to think of something original to say about the WBAI Spring Crafts Fair. My lap was covered with sheafs of press releases and pictures describing and illustrating wares that will be available at the Fair, May 17th-19th and May 31-June 2. Special, intriguing items. Things as beautiful as they are functional. Things which show the imprint of their maker.

Slowly, images of Fairs past came to mind. And with them, the tangible reminders of these events came into view. My home, though not exactly filled with artifacts, very definitely reflects my visits to the Fairs.

The handsome wrought-iron rack in the kitchen, from which my pots hang ($35, not many years ago) is certainly more graceful than any I've seen from a restaurant supply store. The S-shaped hooks look almost fragile, but are in fact strong enough to hold my heaviest cast iron pots.

Then, there's the shallow porcelain bowl (about $25), probably great for candy or something, that I leave empty—the better to admire its shape. Nearly conical, but ever so slightly curved. And the color. Rather like a sea shell, with pale pink at it's deepest point, rolling back to a pinky brown.

In my bureau, not often or for long, there's a hand knit sweater, that's several shades of purple, from deep plum to lavender. It's great as a vest in winter, and fine as a shell in warm weather. Great stuff, silk and cotton (about $80).

After years of searching for the perfect sundial (for my enthusiastic gardener mate) I found one at the Fair last year. A brass reproduction of an 18th century model, the face is engraved with elegant Roman numerals. This is the most expensive item I've ever purchased at the Fair (about $100) and it was certainly the biggest gamble. Attracted to their booth by other scientific instruments, the craftsperson assured me they made a wonderful sundial, but there was no sample—only a picture in a catalog. They could ship me one next week (my deadline). If I weren't satisfied, it could be returned. No danger of that. It arrived on time, with the special engraving I'd ordered and the gnomen tuned to and engraved with the latitude of my community. A perfect sundial.

I haven't even included the pewter jam pot and spoon with a sea-shell shaped knob on the lid (about $25). Or the small vase with a sensuous floral design crafted by a California potter in a style reminiscent of Rossville or Weller (about $30). And the fan fashioned from handmade paper colored with natural dyes. That was a gift from a friend in a lean year. "If you love it, you should have it," she said.

This isn't everything. After all, there have been over a dozen WBAI Crafts Fairs over the years. During lean times, I treat the event as a crafts museum. Even when there's money to spend, I don't always buy something. I usually do, though. There is almost always something so special I want to buy it. Sometimes it turns out to be the perfect gift. Sometimes the perfect gift never leaves my home.

Workers are increasingly hostile to unions. And there is mounting evidence indicating their almost unquestioning support for the anti-worker, pro-war policies of the current administration. Are U.S. workers seeking a partnership with corporate capitalism? This and other questions will be examined in a 90-minute documentary produced by Samori Marksman and the Public and International Affairs Depts.

PRINCE AND THE REVOLUTION, SUNDAY, MAY 5, 12 am. Is the boy "ba-ad" or just plain bad? Are his messages straight or frayed? Have we heard it all before, or is there really something new, something true to an art, something lasting, something smart? Join us, checkbook in hand, as Bernard White and Anthony Sloan—with a little help from his Royal Highness of . . . —inspire you to subscribe and donate to the only station that will dare to explore PRINCE completely for eight hours. Join us in the early Sunday morning hours as we take a look at PRINCE and his revolution. Produced by Anthony Sloan and Bernard White.

Midnight-3 am: Spiritual, political, social . . . party PRINCE

3 am-5 am: Sexual PRINCE (be so warned)

5 am-8:30 am: The film soundtrack to PURPLE RAIN (in its entirety)

The following is an excerpt from filmmaker John Sayles' (Brother from Another Planet) answers to questions by WBAI's Anthony Sloan concerning Prince and the film Purple Rain.

Sayles: As far as the movie goes, I had a good time at the movie. It was one of those movies where you, my attitude anyway, changed about it during the movie because it was about a guy whose attitudes were changing. Like his attitudes towards women. First you say, wow, this guy is really fucked up and are we supposed to think he's fucked up or think he's great or whatever and ignore what everyone else in the audience is doing? What is he trying to do? And finally what I came away with is that it was sort of part movie and part psychotherapy. He's working this stuff out in front of us and sharing it with us which I think is a lot of what you try to do with a movie that's emotional. I thought the music took over the second half of the film, but the music still had the emotion of what he was going through in it. And that's a nice thing to happen in a music thing . . .

I saw the concert recently and unfortunately for me it felt like the concert was, it was too much about the movie. It was like this was the concert of the movie. And I sort of wanted to see what Prince was going to do next rather than what he did before. So I'm looking forward to another movie by him . . . .

MAKE IT PAY TO BE IN THE FOLIO

The artists whose work appears in the Folio receive no compensation for allowing us to use their materials. Often, they create photographs or illustrations especially for us. They do it for love of WBAI and for exposure. Please remember these artists when next you need illustration, design, or photography. They will be happy to help you out. And remember, say you saw them in the Folio.

REPORT FROM THE LISTENER

Dear Pussifica,
My cat T.G. (short for Tough Guy) read your column and wanted to send you a pack of cat food. I said you'd appreciate it but that the station would enjoy something more substantial. So I am sending $5.00 with the cat food (it would have been more, but I'm 15, poor, and besides, my mom is a subscriber already).
Salutations and Purrs,
T.G. and Sarah Sher
P.S. I hope you like tuna.

Dear Phil, Pat, et al:
Jack Shug's touting of pornography, and now open solicitation for "liberating" and "very beautiful" S&M are obscene in precisely the way that Ronald Reagan's black is white is obscene. So anything pleasurable is good? I'm sure the SS found torture pleasurable; it is clear that Ever wonder why the military has the run of every high school in the country, while community organizations usually find doors slammed in their faces?

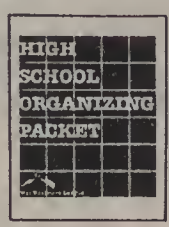
Then try the WRL...



This Packet includes

- students' First Amendment rights
- resource list
- 12 case histories of successful organizing efforts.

To the Editor:

Let's not make such a shining virtue out of admitting racial prejudice, as an April letter-writer did about the Gorman-Ursay Confessions.

I mean those two are liable to get worse and worse and then make bigger and bigger confessions, just to earn more such admiring mail.

But let's do get back to our 11:30 p.m. news in full, in toto, in all and nothing but all! Remember, it got the 1985 Toney award.

Enclosed is a $10 bribe.

Edna Toney

Dear Everyone,

For the last 20 years I have been a faithful listener and subscriber, sometimes 2-3 times a year.

I am now leaving the East Coast for the West and hope that somewhere in the Tacoma, WA area I will find radio programming to equal yours, and to give all the information and pleasure I have had from listening for so many years. . . .

Claire F. Hull

To the Editor:

Just a note to say that after I checked "none" on the questionnaire about how useful the WBAI Folio was—I began to really look at it and read it.

So that's one change in statistics. . . .

Sincerely,
Felice Wolfjak

Dear WBAI,

I first started listening to you in 1967 or 68, when I was in high school. I used to stay up at night and listen to Steve Post, Bob Fass, and Larry Josephson. I drifted away from the New York area for several years, and even though I have lived here since 1972, I didn't really start listening again until 1983. Now, I leave the raidio on WBAI all day. I enjoy it immensely, and wish that more people would appreciate the station. Why don't you syndicate more of your programming? The Joe Cuomo special was excellent. There are more programs in the archives which could be sold to the listening public as a product or distributed to other stations, etc. This could be a legitimate means of raising money and could be accomplished very easily. How about some of the concerts and free music stores? I have been a supporter for the last two years and will continue to be one. I am looking forward to seeing some of the changes which will be made in programs in March. . . .

Sincerely,
Steven Oboler Schwartz

RADIO UNNAMEABLE CABAL

Bob Fass, a long-time fixture of FM "alternative" radio in the metropolitan New York area, is seeking to contact all past and present listeners to establish a network—the object of which is proposed to be fun and social change. Fass is writing a book and solicits recollections. He asks "Do you have any tapes of my broadcasts? Is there a radio station in your area where you would like to hear Radio Unnameable?" Send name, address, and phone number to Bob Fass - NAG, Box 332, Old Chelsea Station, New York, NY 10113. ++
